

THE NEAR PEACE EXPERIENCE THRESHOLD BY UNITED WORLD

2050. HOW THE WORLD LOOKS LIKE

2050. THE SCENARIO

2050. Near Peace Xperience Threshold. An immersive experience so people can learn what peace means, how it looks like and how it should feel. The NPX is a process where the inception occurs: understand, recognize and adapt the elements of peace (these elements comes from the peace data center).

Peace happens everyday in the micro moments such as social interactions in the street or at the very high level during a peacebuilding effort between countries.

THE SIGNALS

The new geo-politics.
Building a new diplomacy through peace lenses.

Internet of People.
Big data + human-centric focus + crowdsourcing.

Peace as a living concept.
New global values of "peace"

Planet Ambassadors.
Jobs in a near future to take care of the planet

UN BECOMES UW. THE KEY FOR PEACEBUILDING

In this new world, the first big initiative back in the 2020's was to redefine the role of United Nations; we saw on the word "nations" an implicit concept of division, so in order to design a new diplomacy, we needed to start redefining our biggest mission: a unified world where there is peace for all of us (considering what peace means for the different cultures). In this world, UN takes an amazing leap to demonstrate we all are part of the change; UN is now UW, United World.

NARRATIVE OF A HOPEFULL DAY

On the 24 of August 2050 Pax wakes up in her apartment, it's 7:02am so she still has plenty of time to get ready for work, she's been waking up intuitively for the last couple of months following a more natural lifestyle trend that takes up from different studies first developed on the second decade of the 2000's. Her building has a green façade and each tenant takes care of a portion of it so she tends her green wall by checking both on the soil composition and environmental humidity, everything seems fine, so the keep up today will be minimum.

It's 7:45am now and she gets ready for work, she's originally from the northwestern part of Earth and after graduating with honors as an Empathy Officer she landed a position in the UW northeastern hemisphere office which is next to the sea in a place that as far as she knows used to have people living in it for thousands of years before becoming part of a now extinct empire which in turn almost another thousand of years later became part of another now extinct empire and that after a process of independence resulted on a specific kind of republic, to her (not a Cultural or Historic Officer) all those changes seem quite absurd and hard to grasp on, but History where one of those subjects mandatory for all UW Peace Diplomats.

She's now taking an ePPT (short for Electric Personal Public Transport) and on her way to work, she's greeted by the vehicle which informs her she will be just in time for her first scheduled hearing at 8:30am where they are going to discuss the main findings after 5 years of the first NPX (Near Peace Experience) as an Empath her job will be to listen, comprehend and report on all the different experiences, this is something she has been professionally trained for for all for her life, she's is pleased with the task and recognises the importance of her job. Still she's having trouble remembering the last time she was displeased ...

BACKCASTING. FUTURING PEACE BY UNITED WORLD

2021. The peace data center. Deep Global Research to understand the meaning of peace world wide, to define indicators to measure peace according to its constant definition & and real time monitoring on how far or close are we, in order to achieve it.

2025. United World. A new era of peacebuilding and diplomacy. The new vision needs a new generation of diplomats, processes and technology. The first step? United Nations transform itself to United World as an evolution sign.

2027. The Peacebuilding university. 1000 new diplomats from all the countries plus a new role to represent the earth from a sustainable perspective in each negotiation table. UW has a new peacebuilding process which includes an "earth diplomat" to make sure the agreement is also valuable for the world.

2035. The UW becomes de biggest employer of the world. Beyond diplomats, UW open the space for new jobs to help peacebuilding from the earth perspective (Ozone hole Engineer, Tree planters or Empathy designer).

2040. The peacebubbles. A new interactive capsule where technology helps build empathy and trust as the new peacebuilding diplomacy process. The emerging technologies are based on elements such as "neurolinks" and AI to connect the "willingness to peace" from all actors (including the "earth representative").